What I've Done

Overview

The APAMSA Clinic Consortium is an initiative within the Asian Pacific Medical Student Association (APAMSA) that was founded to provide support for student-run free clinics serving Asian communities. It aims to provide a platform for clinics to share resources, collaborate on projects that address Asian health, and connect with leaders in the field.

Our Goals

1. Provide an online forum for free clinic leaders to communicate
2. Create a repository of translated resources (i.e. clinic forms, educational brochures) for student run free clinics
3. Host virtual or in-person training for students serving Asian American and Pacific Islander communities
